ASSERT OIL LEASE NOT ROBED IN SECRECY

CLAIM SUCH TESTIMONY TO BE INTRODUCED

LETTER FALL WROTE TO LATE SENATOR LA FOLLETTE IS QUOTED

COMMUNICATION SAID: "THERE IS NO OBJECTION TO WIDEST PUBLICITY"

By HERBERT LITTLE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 21. — A movement intended to show that former Secretary of the Interior Fall did not shroud the Teapot Dome oil lease with secrecy was started today in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial.

A letter Fall wrote the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, father of the senate Teapot oil investigation—was read. Dated five days after Fall had leased the reserve to his co-defendant, Harry Sinclair, the letter said "there was no objection to widest publicity." The prosecution had charged Fall's and Sinclair's dealings were in secret.

In the letter Fall told of the oil leasing situation, responding to an inquiry from the senator; and disclosed the execution of the Teapot lease. Several months after receipt of the letter, the senator introduced the senate resolution which resulted in the 1923-1924 investigation.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Harry F. Sinclair's statement to the senate oil committee Dec. 4, 1923, that "I went to Three Rivers (N. M.) to discuss with (former secretary of interior) Fall the leasing of Teapot Dome" arose to plague him today at his and Fall's conspiracy trial here.

The government tried to introduce the statement in court to prove that a plot for Fall to lease the naval oil reserve to Sinclair started as early as Jan. 1, 1922, when Sinclair visited Fall's ranch.

Defense lawyers immediately objected that Sinclair's testimony to the senate was given involuntarily and could not be held against him now. So involved and lengthy did the discussion threaten to become that Justice Siddons at the noon recess excused the jury until Monday, giving the attorneys time for argument this afternoon. The court indicated it might not rule until Monday on the admissability of Sinclair's 1923 testimony.

The wrangle over this point came after both sides had struck telling counterblows.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The first week of the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial ended today with one major point won by the prosecution and another before presiding Justice Siddons for a decision, expected on Monday.

The prosecution produced K. C. Heald, one of the oil experts who served under Sec. of the Interior Albert B. Fall and Heald said he reported officially to his chief there was no danger of drainage which would require leasing of all of Teapot Dome. The defense sought to show the report was based on hearsay but Siddons upheld the prosecution's contention that correctness of the report was not involved. The defense had stressed "necessity" for the lease because of feared drainage.

The other point was the admissability of one of the statements to the senate oil committee in 1923 of Harry Sinclair, co-defendant with Fall on charges of criminal conspiracy to defraud the government.

In this testimony the oil magnate said he went to the famous Three Rivers, N. M., conference with Fall on New Year's Day, 1922, to discuss the leasing of Teapot Dome.

The government sought to introduce it to controvert the defense statement that discussion of Osage Indian oil land royalties was the reason for the conference at which, according to both sides Fall and Sinclair went through preliminaries to the Teapot Dome naval reserve lease granted to Sinclair three months later.

WALKED 100 MILES TO SEE GOVERNOR TO PARDON SON

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—A mother who walked 100 miles and waited for three days to see the governor of Oklahoma will return today to Shamrock, Okla., accompanied by her 17-year-old son.

The boy, Thurmond Beardon, was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years for stealing automobile tires.

Mrs. I. M. Beardon, his mother, believed Thurmond only wanted to make her happy, she said, and stole to get money for her. She appealed to the governor for a parole.

But her efforts were not heeded, so last week she started to walk to Oklahoma City. She arrived here Monday night and sat outside the governor's office until yesterday when she was granted a hearing—and her boy was granted a parole.

I. W. W. SEEKS TO TIGHTEN COAL STRIKE

THREE ADDITIONAL MINES ARE CLOSED IN WALSENBURG AREA

PICKETERS ENLIST 200 MORE MINERS IN THE WALKOUT

Walsenburg, Colo., Oct. 21—(UP)—With three additional mines closed here after picketers enlisted 200 more miners in the southern Colorado coal strike, I. W. W. leaders announced plans to increase effectiveness of the walkout today.

Mayor John Pritchard of Walsenburg has instructed police to arrest every picketer found at the mines. Sheriff Harry Capps said he would have six special deputies at each of the 26 mines in Huerfano county.

Strikers prepared to continue picketing, however, and women who picketed yesterday, were expected to turn out in greater force today.

All mines at Aguilar are closed. Operators said suspension of operations followed an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America who met and voted to halt work until trouble here was settled.

I. W. W. leaders insisted the closing was in sympathy with Walsenburg miners.

Less than half the normal force of 2,406 men at the Walsenburg mines remained at work, it was estimated.

Six picketers were arrested yesterday.

W. H. Young, state industrial commissioner, said that the state house would not interfere in the strike until asked for aid by local officers.

CHAMPION PULLET LAYS HER 173RD EGG, THEN QUITS

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 21.—(UP)—The consecutive egg laying of Babe Ruth, world champion pullet, was definitely broken Tuesday when she laid her 173rd egg.

Interviewed after her failure to "come through" Wednesday, the Babe charged that she had been "double-crossed" by her handlers.

"I just found out yesterday that they changed my food," she said. "They took away my proteins and fed me on carbo-hydrates.

"Why, I was just getting a good start. I could have gone 300 days easily."

"Breaking" of the champion pullet started after her namesake, Babe Ruth, the king of swat, paid her a visit Sunday. She laid three more eggs before the breaking process began to work.

George A. Danforth, superintendent of the contest staged at the American Milling Co. by the American Egg Layers' Association, said he feared the little thoroughbred would kill herself if she continued laying.

RED SQUIRREL FACES COURT AS DRUNKEN DRIVER

ALLEGED THAT HE IMBIBED TOO MUCH SQUIRREL WHISKEY

MILACA BRAVE ARRAIGNED BEFORE DISTRICT JUDGE NYE

Milaca, Minn., Oct. 21—Red Squirrel, Indian brave, alleged to have taken aboard too much squirrel whiskey, was arrested here charged with driving his car while drunk. When arraigned before District Judge Carroll A. Nye of Moorhead, Red Squirrel took refuge in true Indian brevity in answering the court clerk's charges.

"Is Red Squirrel your true name?" he was asked.

"Ugh!" was the reply.

"Do you live in this county?"

"Ugh!" with a long grunt.

"Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Ugh!" again, and the clerk entered a plea of not guilty while Judge Nye, a brother of District Judge Frank M. Nye of Minneapolis, set the trial for next Friday.

However, in an explanation said to have been made later to another Indian, Red Squirrel gave his version about like this:

"Indian buy new car. Indian buy bottle moon. Indian drive down road. Indian see bridge come up road. Indian turn out to let bridge go by. Indian fall in creek."—Minneapolis Daily Star.

McCALL DETERMINED TO ELIMINATE ALL LAWLESSNESS IN ALA.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 21.—(UP)—Attorney General C. C. McCall of Alabama has given witnesses who will be called to testify against men charged with participation in masked floggings in Alabama permission to "use violence" if necessary if they are threatened.

Many of the men indicted are known to be members of the Ku Klux Klan, high officials of which were questioned in the recent grand jury investigations of floggings.

"Your home is your castle," McCall told the witnesses, some of whom reported they had received threats. "Defend it with what force you deem necessary."

McCall, himself resigned from the Klan in a letter to the exalted cyclops, made public last night.

Before tendering his resignation, McCall had announced he was determined to eliminate lawlessness in Alabama.

McCall explained that he had been in favor of principles publicly advocated by the Klan, but said he was convinced by months of investigation that the Klan had fallen into control of "lawless leadership."

McCall said in his letter, which was tendered last night, that he regarded his oath of office as superior to any private or fraternal obligation which he had taken.

CONFESSES TO SLAYING MAN AND THROWING BODY IN DITCH

Ortonville, Minn., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Herbert Miller, of Browns Valley, who according to officials has confessed that he murdered Herman Haldreth, and threw his body into a ditch alongside a road here, probably will be arraigned on a murder charge late today.

Miller was captured by a sheriff's posse within a mile of the spot where Haldreth's body was found partly submerged in mud. Haldreth's head had been caved in.

Following his arrest, and when he was taken to view Haldreth's body, Miller declared he did not know the man, and never had seen him. Later he confessed to the sheriff that he killed Haldreth, but has not given a motive for the crime, it was learned.

THRIFT IS THE KEYNOTE OF REAL SUCCESS

Hastings, Neb., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Thrift is the keynote of success—even success as a hobo—in the opinion of Paul Monroe, 24, who has $7,000 deposited in 700 banks in 13 states.

When Monroe arrived in Hastings, he secured a job for two days, obtained enough money to buy a few meals and a night's lodging, deposited a silver dollar in the savings department of a Hastings bank, and left town. Before leaving he was interviewed by police, who had heard of his activities. Monroe told of his wanderings over the middle west for the past three years and how he had made a practice of depositing $1 in each town he visited.

"In time, the money will double," the hobo said, "and when I am ready to settle down, I'll have something on which to start."

2 BRITISH SUBS REPORTED FIRING ON CHINESE SHIP

LATTER HAD BEEN SEIZED AND MANNED BY CHINESE PIRATES

PASSENGERS AND CREW RESCUED BY THE UNDERSEA BOATS

Hong Kong, Oct. 21—(UP)—Two British submarines are reported to have fired upon and sunk the Chinese steamer Irene, Wednesday, after the vessel had been seized by pirates. The number of persons killed and wounded was not known.

The pirates, masquerading as passengers, attacked and took the vessel, which was manned by British officers. The Irene had a crew of 100 Chinese and carried 80 passengers.

When the pirates headed the Irene toward Bias Bay (about 70 miles northeast of Hong Kong) two British submarines intercepted the vessel and demanded it halt.

When the Irene did not halt, the submarines fired two shots into the engine room, disabling the ship. The vessel took fire and started to sink, passengers and crew were rescued by the submarines and brought to Hong Kong.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH AT ALTON, ILL., PROBED BY POLICE

Alton, Ill., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Madison county authorities opened an investigation today into the mysterious death of an unidentified 27-year-old man whose body was found in a clump of bushes on a farm near here.

Apparently dead for several days, the man had been shot once in the right temple. No trace of a weapon had been found, leading authorities to believe he was victim of a murder.

SENTENCED UNDER STATE BAUMES LAW

Minneapolis, Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Nils Anderson, 59-year-old janitor, spent his first day in the penitentiary today, with the distinction of being the first man sentenced to life imprisonment under the provisions of the Minnesota "Baumes law." He was taken to the Stillwater institution shortly after being sentenced on an assault charge.

Because of three previous convictions for felonies, Anderson became the first defendant under the new law which was enacted by the last legislature, prescribing a maximum of life imprisonment on the fourth conviction for a felony.

ENGINE TROUBLE CONSTANT WITH TEUTON AVIATOR

HIS PASSENGER, COUNT SOLMS, IS REPORTED INJURED

HEINKEL PLANE HAS FEED PIPE TROUBLE, RETURNS TO LISBON

Bagdad, Oct. 21.—(UP)—Unconfirmed newspaper reports today said Otto Koennecke, German aviator, who started a flight around the world, had crashed in a flight from Bunderabbas, Persia, and that his passenger, Count Solms, was injured.

The reports said that the extent of Count Solms' injuries was unknown.

It was added that Koennecke had had constant trouble with the engine of his plane, because it overheated persistently, and that he lacked sufficient spare parts.

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 21. — The German Heinkel plane, D-1220, which took off this morning for the Azores, en route to North America, returned to this city after a short flight and landed in the Tagus river.

Horst Merz, the pilot, said he returned because a feed pipe had broken, causing loss of much gasoline. He said also that a short circuit in the battery developed.

While his two mechanics were making repairs, Merz said he would not attempt another take-off for the Azores today.

Burgos, Spain, Oct. 21.—En route to pick up Ruth Elder and Captain Haldeman when they land at Lisbon, Portugal, Captain Olley, an English aviator, flying a British plane, took off today at 5:30 A. M. for Lisbon. Olley landed here Wednesday after flying from London.

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 21.—Miss Ruth Elder planned to visit London if she has time after buying in Paris the frocks for which she attempted her trans-Atlantic flight, a Ponta Delgada dispatch said today.

If she found it impossible to visit London, it was said, Miss Elder would take a boat direct from France for New York—to begin preparations for another trans-Atlantic flight attempt in August, 1928.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 21.—With clearing weather, Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson believed she might be able to take off this afternoon on her delayed flight to Copenhagen.

While no definite decision will be made until the morning weather bulletins arrive from ships in the Atlantic, indications were that flying conditions may be more favorable today than for several days.

Tide conditions would permit a start between 1 and 4 P. M.

Mrs. Grayson's amphibian plane, "The Dawn," weighed and tested, was ready for the projected 3,500-mile flight except for the loading of an additional 100 gallons of gasoline.

"The Dawn" took off for Denmark Monday but proved nose heavy and returned. It was found the plane's landing gear needed readjusting and this work was completed in four hours yesterday under direction of Igor Sikorsky, who designed the craft.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 21.—(UP)—Doubt that she would be able to start her Maine-to-Denmark flight today was expressed this afternoon by Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson.

She had hoped to leave in her amphibian plane, the Dawn, between 1 and 4 P. M., when tide conditions would permit a take-off, but at 1:30 P. M., she said a further posptonement probably would be necessary.

St. Paul, Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Minnesota's raspberry crop harvest is in full swing.

Mrs. H. J. Sage picked a quart of the berries from a few bushes in the rear of her home here yesterday, while several other Twin Cities residents are enjoying fresh berries for their tables.

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS REPORT AUSTRALIAN SMUGGLING HORROR

Sydney, N. S. W., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Customs officials at Freemantle have reported another smuggling horror.

While searching the steamer Almkerk they discovered 54 Chinese secreted in a ballast tank, ten feet square, where they had been packed in for 33 days.

Eight of the Chinese were dead and all the others unconscious.

The atmosphere was so foul acetylene lamps would not burn when officials attempted to enter the tank. Before the rescue could be accomplished, gas masks were donned, and even then some of the officials fainted.

The customs men said the Chinese were placed in the tank by agents of a Rotterdam smuggling organization.

VIOLINIST WIFE OF H. W. LORD IS STABBED IN HEART

POLICE TO FORCE RUSSIAN BACK-TO-NATURE COLONIST TO RE-ENACT MURDER

NICE, FRANCE, STIRRED BY THE CRIME; 3 MOTIVES ARE ADVANCED

Nice, France, Oct. 21.—(UP)—By forcing Wencelas De Klupfell, Russian back-to-nature colonist, to re-enact his confessed murder of Mrs. Marcelle Vernet Lord, police hoped today to complete their case against him.

A graphic reconstruction of the crime, in which the violinist wife of Horace W. Lord of Boston was stabbed through the heart, was planned in hope that a motive might be disclosed.

Three motives were advanced from various sources.

Police, pointing out that 5,000 francs was missing from Mrs. Lord's pocketbook, believed robbery was the main factor.

Mrs. Lord's friends said she had tired of De Klupfell's company after befriending him for months.

De Klupfell himself said that he had tired of Mrs. Lord's company, and was trying to commit suicide when he killed her.

He had raised a knife to kill himself, as he faced Mrs. Lord in her flat, De Klupfell said, when she grabbed the knife to disarm him. There was a struggle, De Klupfell continued, and Mrs. Lord was stabbed—he did not know how.

He admitted the killing as soon as he was arrested in front of his home, where detectives were waiting for him.

De Klupfell, suspected communist and member of a back-to-nature colony whose only departure from simplicity was in its lengthy name, is the son of a retired Russian admiral who now is living in San Francisco. He is 40 years old.

'SILENT SLAYER' HANGED AT SAN QUENTIN

San Quentin, Calif., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Charles Sieber, known as the "silent slayer," was hanged at the state prison here today for the murder of his wife in Los Angeles.

Sieber, a native of Oklahoma, went to the gallows without making any statement. He had refused to discuss the crime since entering the prison last summer.

He was pronounced dead at 10:26 a. m.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—The fireman and an unidentified baggageman were killed shortly before midnight when the engine of the Sunshine Special, Texas and Pacific railroad passenger train left the track in the yards at Waskom, Tex.

The baggage car and four coaches were also derailed but none of the passengers was injured.

TO PREMIER IS ATTRIBUTED THE FASCIST DICTUM

WILL NOT GRANT TO POPE SOVEREIGNTY OVER VATICAN TERRITORY IN ROME

FASCISM WILL NOT CONTEMPLATE RESTORATION OF TEMPORAL POWER

By THOMAS B. MORGAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Rome, Oct. 21.—Benito Mussolini, outspoken fascist leader and real ruler of Italy, after defying statesmen and kings with whom he disagreed, has clashed with the pope, it was believed generally here today.

To Mussolini was attributed a fascist party manifesto which declared frankly the "new Italy" would not grant the pope sovereignty over the vatican territory in Rome.

To the pope was attributed responsibility for articles in the Osservatore Romano, official vatican newspaper, which caused the manifesto. The articles hinted that the pope would be satisfied if given absolute control over the small Roman area covered by the vatican grounds.

Only 24 hours ago it was thought here that the Italian government—Mussolini—and the vatican — the pope—were near a solution of the delicate question of papal temporal power.

People were looking forward to a day when the pope would emerge from the vatican, and end the voluntary imprisonment to which he and all preceding popes have subjected themselves since in 1870 Italy assumed sovereignty over vatican territory.

Then came the fascist manifesto. It was a frank announcement that fascism could not contemplate restoration of temporal power and that if necessary the "new Italy" regime could wait a hundred years to attain a satisfactory solution.

No one doubted here that the manifesto meant a direct, though veiled clash between two great world personages, one who had raised himself to dictatorship over a great nation by his apparently inexhaustible energy and ambition; the other the nominee of scores of millions of people for a great spiritual post.

Substantiation of the general belief was seen in the frigid reception of the manifesto in vatican circles today.

It was not concealed that the vatican authorities had expected some concession of temporal power. They would have been satisfied with what after all would have been regarded as nominal sovereignty over the small vatican domains.

Now the fascist manifesto not only has said that no such concession could be made but has added that, in the belief of fascists, the removal of sovereign power in 1870 strengthened the church by increasing its spiritual prestige.

The vatican did not hope for much popular support from abroad following the clash, as so many Catholics outside of Italy recognize the pope only as a spiritual leader.

This is true particularly in the United States, it was pointed out.

Despite realization that Mussolini's and the pope's ideas diverged so sharply, it was hoped here that compromise still would be possible. The vatican as well as fascists pointed out that there was no necessity for haste, and with this fact in mind it was thought a solution might be effected.

Such a compromise, it was said, probably would depend on the success with which a fine line could be drawn between actual kinglike sovereignty of the pope over his domain and mere actual proprietorship of the territory, in whose administration, it would be taken for granted, Italy would not concern herself.

McCALL DETERMINED TO ELIMINATE ALL LAWLESSNESS IN ALA.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 21.—(UP)—Attorney General C. C. McCall of Alabama has given witnesses who will be called to testify against men charged with participation in masked floggings in Alabama permission to "use violence" if necessary if they are threatened.

Many of the men indicted are known to be members of the Ku Klux Klan, high officials of which were questioned in the recent grand jury investigations of floggings.

"Your home is your castle," McCall told the witnesses, some of whom reported they had received threats. "Defend it with what force you deem necessary."

McCall, himself resigned from the Klan in a letter to the exalted cyclops, made public last night.

Before tendering his resignation, McCall had announced he was determined to eliminate lawlessness in Alabama.

McCall explained that he had been in favor of principles publicly advocated by the Klan, but said he was convinced by months of investigation that the Klan had fallen into control of "lawless leadership."

McCall said in his letter, which was tendered last night, that he regarded his oath of office as superior to any private or fraternal obligation which he had taken.

CONFESSES TO SLAYING MAN AND THROWING BODY IN DITCH

Ortonville, Minn., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Herbert Miller, of Browns Valley, who according to officials has confessed that he murdered Herman Haldreth, and threw his body into a ditch alongside a road here, probably will be arraigned on a murder charge late today.

Miller was captured by a sheriff's posse within a mile of the spot where Haldreth's body was found partly submerged in mud. Haldreth's head had been caved in.

Following his arrest, and when he was taken to view Haldreth's body, Miller declared he did not know the man, and never had seen him. Later he confessed to the sheriff that he killed Haldreth, but has not given a motive for the crime, it was learned.

THRIFT IS THE KEYNOTE OF REAL SUCCESS

Hastings, Neb., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Thrift is the keynote of success—even success as a hobo—in the opinion of Paul Monroe, 24, who has $7,000 deposited in 700 banks in 13 states.

When Monroe arrived in Hastings, he secured a job for two days, obtained enough money to buy a few meals and a night's lodging, deposited a silver dollar in the savings department of a Hastings bank, and left town. Before leaving he was interviewed by police, who had heard of his activities. Monroe told of his wanderings over the middle west for the past three years and how he had made a practice of depositing $1 in each town he visited.

"In time, the money will double," the hobo said, "and when I am ready to settle down, I'll have something on which to start."

2 BRITISH SUBS REPORTED FIRING ON CHINESE SHIP

LATTER HAD BEEN SEIZED AND MANNED BY CHINESE PIRATES

PASSENGERS AND CREW RESCUED BY THE UNDERSEA BOATS

Hong Kong, Oct. 21—(UP)—Two British submarines are reported to have fired upon and sunk the Chinese steamer Irene, Wednesday, after the vessel had been seized by pirates. The number of persons killed and wounded was not known.

The pirates, masquerading as passengers, attacked and took the vessel, which was manned by British officers. The Irene had a crew of 100 Chinese and carried 80 passengers.

When the pirates headed the Irene toward Bias Bay (about 70 miles northeast of Hong Kong) two British submarines intercepted the vessel and demanded it halt.

When the Irene did not halt, the submarines fired two shots into the engine room, disabling the ship. The vessel took fire and started to sink, passengers and crew were rescued by the submarines and brought to Hong Kong.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH AT ALTON, ILL., PROBED BY POLICE

Alton, Ill., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Madison county authorities opened an investigation today into the mysterious death of an unidentified 27-year-old man whose body was found in a clump of bushes on a farm near here.

Apparently dead for several days, the man had been shot once in the right temple. No trace of a weapon had been found, leading authorities to believe he was victim of a murder.

SENTENCED UNDER STATE BAUMES LAW

Minneapolis, Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Nils Anderson, 59-year-old janitor, spent his first day in the penitentiary today, with the distinction of being the first man sentenced to life imprisonment under the provisions of the Minnesota "Baumes law." He was taken to the Stillwater institution shortly after being sentenced on an assault charge.

Because of three previous convictions for felonies, Anderson became the first defendant under the new law which was enacted by the last legislature, prescribing a maximum of life imprisonment on the fourth conviction for a felony.

ENGINE TROUBLE CONSTANT WITH TEUTON AVIATOR

HIS PASSENGER, COUNT SOLMS, IS REPORTED INJURED

HEINKEL PLANE HAS FEED PIPE TROUBLE, RETURNS TO LISBON

Bagdad, Oct. 21.—(UP)—Unconfirmed newspaper reports today said Otto Koennecke, German aviator, who started a flight around the world, had crashed in a flight from Bunderabbas, Persia, and that his passenger, Count Solms, was injured.

The reports said that the extent of Count Solms' injuries was unknown.

It was added that Koennecke had had constant trouble with the engine of his plane, because it overheated persistently, and that he lacked sufficient spare parts.

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 21. — The German Heinkel plane, D-1220, which took off this morning for the Azores, en route to North America, returned to this city after a short flight and landed in the Tagus river.

Horst Merz, the pilot, said he returned because a feed pipe had broken, causing loss of much gasoline. He said also that a short circuit in the battery developed.

While his two mechanics were making repairs, Merz said he would not attempt another take-off for the Azores today.

Burgos, Spain, Oct. 21.—En route to pick up Ruth Elder and Captain Haldeman when they land at Lisbon, Portugal, Captain Olley, an English aviator, flying a British plane, took off today at 5:30 A. M. for Lisbon. Olley landed here Wednesday after flying from London.

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 21.—Miss Ruth Elder planned to visit London if she has time after buying in Paris the frocks for which she attempted her trans-Atlantic flight, a Ponta Delgada dispatch said today.

If she found it impossible to visit London, it was said, Miss Elder would take a boat direct from France for New York—to begin preparations for another trans-Atlantic flight attempt in August, 1928.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 21.—With clearing weather, Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson believed she might be able to take off this afternoon on her delayed flight to Copenhagen.

While no definite decision will be made until the morning weather bulletins arrive from ships in the Atlantic, indications were that flying conditions may be more favorable today than for several days.

Tide conditions would permit a start between 1 and 4 P. M.

Mrs. Grayson's amphibian plane, "The Dawn," weighed and tested, was ready for the projected 3,500-mile flight except for the loading of an additional 100 gallons of gasoline.

"The Dawn" took off for Denmark Monday but proved nose heavy and returned. It was found the plane's landing gear needed readjusting and this work was completed in four hours yesterday under direction of Igor Sikorsky, who designed the craft.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 21.—(UP)—Doubt that she would be able to start her Maine-to-Denmark flight today was expressed this afternoon by Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson.

She had hoped to leave in her amphibian plane, the Dawn, between 1 and 4 P. M., when tide conditions would permit a take-off, but at 1:30 P. M., she said a further posptonement probably would be necessary.

St. Paul, Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Minnesota's raspberry crop harvest is in full swing.

Mrs. H. J. Sage picked a quart of the berries from a few bushes in the rear of her home here yesterday, while several other Twin Cities residents are enjoying fresh berries for their tables.

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS REPORT AUSTRALIAN SMUGGLING HORROR

Sydney, N. S. W., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Customs officials at Freemantle have reported another smuggling horror.

While searching the steamer Almkerk they discovered 54 Chinese secreted in a ballast tank, ten feet square, where they had been packed in for 33 days.

Eight of the Chinese were dead and all the others unconscious.

The atmosphere was so foul acetylene lamps would not burn when officials attempted to enter the tank. Before the rescue could be accomplished, gas masks were donned, and even then some of the officials fainted.

The customs men said the Chinese were placed in the tank by agents of a Rotterdam smuggling organization.

VIOLINIST WIFE OF H. W. LORD IS STABBED IN HEART

POLICE TO FORCE RUSSIAN BACK-TO-NATURE COLONIST TO RE-ENACT MURDER

NICE, FRANCE, STIRRED BY THE CRIME; 3 MOTIVES ARE ADVANCED

Nice, France, Oct. 21.—(UP)—By forcing Wencelas De Klupfell, Russian back-to-nature colonist, to re-enact his confessed murder of Mrs. Marcelle Vernet Lord, police hoped today to complete their case against him.

A graphic reconstruction of the crime, in which the violinist wife of Horace W. Lord of Boston was stabbed through the heart, was planned in hope that a motive might be disclosed.

Three motives were advanced from various sources.

Police, pointing out that 5,000 francs was missing from Mrs. Lord's pocketbook, believed robbery was the main factor.

Mrs. Lord's friends said she had tired of De Klupfell's company after befriending him for months.

De Klupfell himself said that he had tired of Mrs. Lord's company, and was trying to commit suicide when he killed her.

He had raised a knife to kill himself, as he faced Mrs. Lord in her flat, De Klupfell said, when she grabbed the knife to disarm him. There was a struggle, De Klupfell continued, and Mrs. Lord was stabbed—he did not know how.

He admitted the killing as soon as he was arrested in front of his home, where detectives were waiting for him.

De Klupfell, suspected communist and member of a back-to-nature colony whose only departure from simplicity was in its lengthy name, is the son of a retired Russian admiral who now is living in San Francisco. He is 40 years old.

'SILENT SLAYER' HANGED AT SAN QUENTIN

San Quentin, Calif., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Charles Sieber, known as the "silent slayer," was hanged at the state prison here today for the murder of his wife in Los Angeles.

Sieber, a native of Oklahoma, went to the gallows without making any statement. He had refused to discuss the crime since entering the prison last summer.

He was pronounced dead at 10:26 a. m.

Miss Islay McColl returned this afternoon from St. Louis, Mo., where she has been taking art lessons. She has made rapid strides and some of her pictures have gained considerable recognition. She will visit with her parents and other relatives in the city for some time.

The people of the city and especially those on the north side, should be on their guard these nights for a gang of petty thieves who are operating and performing some little depredations which are to say the least annoying. Last night they operated successfully at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gemmell on Fourth street north. They stripped a clothes line of all its contents, taking away a large number of valuable skirts and other wearing apparel. Other small thefts of this kind have been reported during the past week or two.

ENGINEER, FIREMAN KILLED IN WRECK

TWO PERSONS INJURED WHEN LACKAWANNA TRAIN HITS WASH-OUT

Hallstead, Pa., Oct. 20.—(UP)—The engineer and fireman were killed and two persons slightly injured last night when a Lackawanna passenger train, No. 28, was wrecked at a washout three miles east of here.

The engine turned a complete somersault in a 30-foot plunge. The engineer and the fireman were instantly killed.

An express messenger, John Grady, and a mail clerk, John Crusec, were slightly injured when their combination express-mail car crashed onto the engine, with two other express cars falling upon their car.

None of the five passenger cars left the track, and passengers were scarcely aware of the wreck, as the train was going at slow speed up a grade when the accident occurred.

Priscilla Circle

The Priscilla circle was entertained last evening at Love Lake at the Adair cottage by Miss Eula Michael and Miss Marie Adair. A delicious supper was served after which a short business meeting was held and the Misses Ruth Templeton, Tena Backen and Marguerite Carmichiel were appointed chairmen of the various working committees. After the business meeting a delightful social hour was enjoyed by everyone.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

October 21, 1902

Miss Islay McColl returned this afternoon from St. Louis, Mo., where she has been taking art lessons. She has made rapid strides and some of her pictures have gained considerable recognition. She will visit with her parents and other relatives in the city for some time.

The people of the city and especially those on the north side, should be on their guard these nights for a gang of petty thieves who are operating and performing some little depredations which are to say the least annoying. Last night they operated successfully at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gemmell on Fourth street north. They stripped a clothes line of all its contents, taking away a large number of valuable skirts and other wearing apparel. Other small thefts of this kind have been reported during the past week or two.

The district boy scout office is in receipt of a new supply of badges which are available to all scouts who qualified recently.

Difficulties unforeseen in the way of car trouble prevented all the boys from taking part in the radio program over WCCO last Wednesday evening. It was felt that while the program was favorable a better showing might have been made had all the scouts been present.

STRUCK BY CAR, WOMAN GIVES BIRTH TO TWINS

St. Paul, Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Two hours after Mrs. Joseph Dech was struck and knocked down by an automobile, she gave birth to twins, a boy and girl, at a hospital here.

While the son and daughter are expected to live, doctors today despaired for the mother's life.

DWIGHT MORROW, NEW ENVOY TO MEXICO, TO GO TO POST

Laredo, Texas, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Unusual military precautions will be taken by Mexican federal forces on Saturday when Dwight Morrow, ambassador from the United States to Mexico, is expected to cross the border at this point.

The military headquarters at Neuvo Laredo, across the border, today made plans for a heavy artillery escort to accompany Morrow's train to Mexico City as a result of the dynamiting Tuesday of the Mexico City-Laredo train.

Morrow is expected to arrive here Saturday morning and leave here that afternoon for Mexico City. Troops from the Neuvo Laredo garrison will accompany the train.

Eight passengers, most of them women, were killed when the train was dynamited Tuesday by bandits, believed to be sympathizers with General Arnulfo Gomez, the revolutionary leader. Passengers of the train arriving here after many hours delay in repairing the wrecked right of way estimated that 30,000 pesos were taken by the rebels.

The passengers quoted the bandits as saying they were disappointed at dynamiting the train because they had believed it carried federal troops.

Mocking mirrors

MOCKING shapes of silvered glass that tell the truth. . . . What a tragedy that some women fade so soon! Just a few short years ago, beauty and health were theirs to spare. Now — their mirrors mock them! Wan, thin cheeks, haggard smiles, betray the price of neglect!

It is terrible—the toll that constipation takes in health and happiness. It thieves beauty. It wrecks vitality. It is the cause of much suffering and disease. And all the while it could be so easily relieved! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—safely, permanently.

Why ALL-BRAN is superior to "part-bran"

A large part of ALL-BRAN is "bulk." This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines, gently distending them—purifying, eliminating poisonous wastes. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is often too small to do this work. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN—because it is 100% bran—100% effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

No more need for pills

How different from habit-forming pills and drugs! Which become useless unless the dose is constantly increased. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak for a few moments to bring out all its delicious flavor. Try it in soups. With other cereals.

WHERE DEMOCRACY WAS BORN

AMERICAN democracy is derived from the social and governmental institutions of the ancient Scandinavians, the original Nordics, declares Charles J. McGuirk in an article in Liberty magazine.

"American institutions are Nordic," the writer asserts. "Congress is an echo of the Scandinavian 'Thing', an assembly of the people about the mounds of their dead at which they listened to the advice of the Old Man of the tribe. Our state legislatures follow the 'Heradthing', a local assembly.

"Democracy was not born in America," the writer continues. "It had its birth in Norway when Harald Fairhair destroyed the power of the 'hersirs' (kings) and placed the leadership of the people among the 'jarls', high-born local chiefs who had won to leadership of the host and certain districts by their warlike qualities."

"HOME TOWN" ESSAY CONTEST

ANNOUNCEMENT of an essay contest on "My Home Town" for high school students of the state has been made by the League of Minnesota Municipalities. Essays, according to the rules, must be between 1,500 and 2,500 words and entries may be made up to December 1 by the school principal or teachers of civics.

Judges will be William Anderson, professor of political science at the University of Minnesota; Theodore Blegen, assistant superintendent of the Minnesota State Historical society, and Harvey Walker, executive secretary of the league. The subjects covered will include the history of the town, its governments, its advantages and disadvantages and suggestions for improvement. Four cash prizes are offered.

A. T. & T. COMPANY STOCKHOLDERS

A. T. & T. Company stockholders are numerous in Brainerd. When the last sale of stock was conducted by company employes, the allotment in Brainerd was heavily over-subscribed and applicants were accorded a certain ratio of shares.

On October 15 the company mailed quarterly dividend checks to 481,982 stockholders. This is the largest number to whom the corporation has ever paid a dividend and exceeds by 1,691, according to official advices, the number who received checks three months ago. Only 4 per cent of the stock, it is reported, is held by brokers, the balance being owned by investors throughout the United States and some 5,000 living in foreign countries.

So far as the United States is concerned, the Channel swimming season appears to be closed, but in England they are getting "all het up" over the matter. Charges and counter charges have been made that there has been some fake swimming and a lady doctor faked a swim just to show how easily it can be done.

WEDDINGS in America exceed the divorces 10 to 1, according to the U. S. Bureau of the Census.

SURVEY OF SENTIMENT FOR CANDIDATES

MIDDLE WEST NOT YET WON BY ANY PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANT

50 EDITORS AT INLAND DAILY PRESS ASSOCIATION MEET. ING INTERVIEWED

By EDWARD C. DERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Oct. 21. — (U.P.)—Editors of daily newspapers in the agricultural belt believe the united support of the middle west has not yet been won by any presidential aspirant in either major party.

More than 50 editors, attending the convention of the Inland Daily Press Association, were interviewed by the United Press. Most of them were editors of thriving dailies in the smaller cities and towns in the heart of the farm belt. They represented the rural and semi-metropolitan districts of Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana rather than the large metropolitan centers.

In most cases, their newspapers are dependent to a large degree upon the prosperity of the farms. And the questions they were asked dealt not so much with their personal viewpoints or editorial policies, as with the general sentiment in their communities.

On only one point did the editors come near agreement. That was—"if President Coolidge were to reconsider and run again, he would easily carry the Mississippi valley states." (The direct quotations are from one of the leading newspaper publishers in Iowa.) That opinion was echoed, although sometimes with less certainty, by more than half the editors interviewed.

But most of these editors believed Mr. Coolidge "meant what he said" when he issued the "do not choose to run" statement.

At this point, all signs of agreement stopped. Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois; Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce; Vice President Charles G. Dawes; and Charles E. Hughes, former secretary of state and republican nominee in 1916, received chief mention among the republican candidates. Gov. Al Smith of New York, Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri, E. T. Meredith of Iowa, and Vic Donahey of Ohio were mentioned among the democrats.

Lowden's name was mentioned most frequently by the editors but that might be explained by the fact that Illinois editors were present in greater numbers than those from other states. Several Illinois editors indicated Lowden's popularity in Illinois was induced more by the fact he was an Illinoisan than by his endorsement of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

"Lowden is strong in my territory because he is an Illinois man and devoted to farm conditions," said A. O. Lindsey, president of the Quincy, Ill., Herald-Whig. "Farmers, however, appear to be much divided on the McNary-Haugen bill and so I think it is less an issue than some people believe.

"In Quincy we don't hear much about Hoover or Dawes or Hughes. Frankly, I think President Coolidge is still the most popular figure in the republican party.

"As for the democrats, Al Smith is the best known but Senator Reed of Missouri has a large following."

Lindsey's comments largely sum up the opinion of all Illinois editors except that some of them were even stronger in their belief that Lowden would easily carry Illinois outside of Chicago.

Iowa editors leaned strongly toward Lowden and Hoover, most of them agreeing that President Coolidge would easily win his party's nomination by acclamation in event of a deadlock. E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture, probably will carry the Iowa delegation to the democratic convention, they said.

Missourians declared that Senator Reed dominated in Missouri democratic circles. Hoover and Lowden the editors said, seemed to have greatest backing among republicans. The editors declared prohibition was not an issue in the state.

Indiana editors, who have been occupied extensively by factional strife, expressed the belief that both parties would have their difficulties ironed out by next year.

"From all I have been able to gather, Indiana will swing either to Hughes or Hoover," said Charles Beal, of the LaPorte Herald-Argus. "Lowden talk is heard in some quarters but it's mostly Hughes and Hoover. People around LaPorte think Hughes an able man, but Hoover would make the better race."

Beal's comment generally expressed opinions of other Indiana editors.

Minnesota is deeply interested in farm relief and Lowden and Hoover seem to be the favorites in that state. Minnesota editors declared. Gov. Smith is mentioned more than any other democratic possibility.

In Wisconsin, Hoover was said to be popular, with Lowden and Coolidge also running strong.

TELLS DETECTIVES 4 DIFFERENT STORIES OF THE KILLING

Brooklyn, Oct. 21. — (U.P.)—John Hansen, 50-year-old machinist, was arrested early today and held for further questioning in connection with the murder of his wife and her adopted daughter. He will be arraigned in homicide court.

Hansen, in a semi-intoxicated condition, lurched into a police station last night and told detectives four different stories of the killing.

Police investigated and found the bodies of Mrs. Anna Hansen, 45, and Miss Milma Macki, 19. They apparently had been dead for 12 hours.

The nature of their wounds indicated the women were choked into unconsciousness and that their heads had been wrapped in a sheet and beaten with a hammer. Broken dishes and other debris in the apartment indicated the victims had fought valiantly to save their lives.

Hansen denied knowledge of how the crime was committed. He said he had been drinking Thursday night and awoke about noon to find his wife and Miss Macki murdered. He did not go to police at once, he explained, because he was afraid he would be suspected.

STARTING LINE-UP UNCERTAIN IN CLASH TOMORROW AT AITKIN

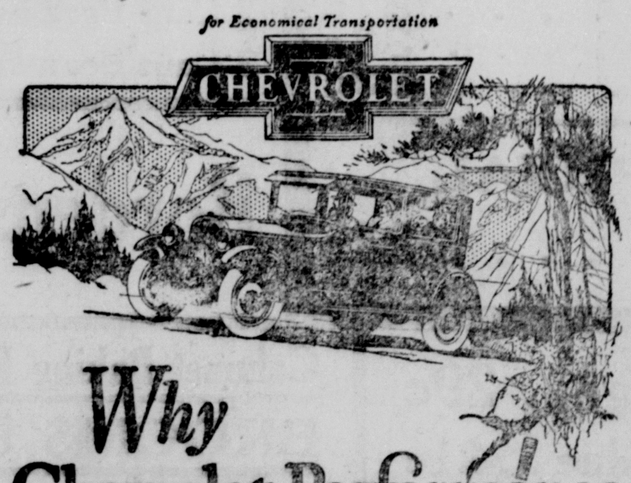

With five of the Brainerd gridders on the injured list and doubtful starters in tomorrow's clash with Aitkin at Aitkin, the chances are about even that the local high school boys will come back to this city Saturday night with another win to their credit.

It is almost a certainty that LaCourse, left tackle, and Buscher, quarterback, will not be in the starting line-up on account of injuries. LaCourse has a sprained wrist while Buscher has had a hard job limbering up a sore leg he got in the clash with Crosby here last Saturday.

Donald Geist will be out of the game for the remainder of the season on account of sore leg muscles. Last night W. Hautala and Swanson, half-backs, came out of the scrimmage in bad shape and it is not known whether they will be O. K. to start tomorrow.

Coach Kasch today was unable to announce his starting line-up on account of these injuries. Wise will call signals in the opening of tomorrow's game.

ABANDONS ATTEMPT TO SWIM CHANNEL

WAS WITHIN 8 MILES OF DOVER, WHICH WAS HER OBJECTIVE

LONDON STENOGRAPHER TRIED WHAT SHE TERMED HER "VINDICATION SWIM"

Cape Gris Nez, France, Oct. 21.—(UP)—Miss Mercedes Gleitze, London stenographer, failed today in her "vindication" attempt to swim the English Channel, but she proved her courage in what experts said was an impossible effort.

Miss Gleitze entered the Channel here at 4:20 A. M. today with the water temperature fifty-six degrees and carried on gamely until 3 P. M., when she was eight miles east southeast of Dover, her objective.

Cape Gris Nez, France, Oct. 21.—Gamely fighting a way through the cold rough water of the English Channel, Miss Mercedes Gleitze was half way on her swim to Dover at 10:55 A. M. today, hoping to vindicate British women swimmers.

Miss Gleitze made good progress after her start from here at 4:20 A. M., in cold, clear weather. A few hours later she was reported to be 6¼ miles out. At 10:55 an Imperial Airways airplane, bound for Cologne passed over her in mid-channel.

Miss Gleitze went into action as if embarking on a one-girl holy war.

She had been waiting for good weather. Late yesterday a telegram from Dover informed her that conditions were good as could be hoped for at this late season.

Starting out immediately from her hotel, Miss Gleitze made for the nearest church, and spent some time kneeling in prayer there. Returning, she joined in a song chorus guests were staging. Then—at 8 o'clock—she went to bed.

The temperature of the water was 56 degrees as Miss Gleitze started her swim.

"If you can swim 21 miles in this water, I'll take off my hat to you," T. W. Burgess, veteran channel trainer, told her.

At 9:30 A. M. today, Miss Gleitze drank a bowl of hot milk, and went out into the blood-chilling early morning air to prove that she was a real channel swimmer.

She left no ground for doubt that whatever happened to her would be vouched for. Two doctors, her trainer, an official observer of the British Amateur Swimming Association, British and foreign newspaper men, and independent witnesses went aboard the tug Alsace that accompanied her.

Miss Gleitze swam the channel a couple of weeks ago. It was the realization of her life ambition. A London stenographer, she had scraped and saved for years to permit her to make seven unsuccessful and the eighth and successful attempts to swim the channel.

Then Dr. Dorothy Cochrane Logan, after claiming to have made the swim in less time than did Gertrude Ederle, American woman's record holder, confessed she was faking and insinuated that most other channel swimming attempts were fakes too.

Surveying what to her seemed only the ashes of her recent triumph, Miss Gleitze announced that she would never claim to have swum the channel until she had done it again in the presence of official witnesses.

She telephoned newspapers and the swimming association and left at once for Cape Gris Nez.

At a first trial, the jury disagreed and was discharged. A month later the trial at which La Rose was convicted opened.

POLICE THINK LAD IS SHIELDING MOTHER

Washington, Oct. 21.—(UP)—Police today believed 17-year-old Claude Ferguson took a charge of buckshot over his heart to save his father's life and that now he is shielding his mother. But they could not confirm the theory.

Whether he stepped between his parents when the mother, 35, aimed a shotgun at the father, John Ferguson, wealthy planter, Wednesday. Claude replied: "It was an accident."

The mother was arrested last night and was released in $1,000 bail.

The father told police:

"Claude and I were walking in our backyard at Meadows, Md., my wife, standing near the pump, aimed the gun at us and fired. Claude fell, groaning. My wife dropped the gun and ran. I followed a short distance and then returned to Claude. There had been no previous quarrel."

Claude is in a serious condition.

PENNSYLVANIA IS RECOVERING FROM FLOODS

3 LIVES LOST IN OVERFLOWING OF CREEKS AND SMALL RIVERS

THOUSANDS HOMELESS, 10,000 MEN REDUCED TO IDLENESS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—(UP)—Pennsylvania today was recovering from one of the most disastrous fall floods in the history of the state.

The flood caused by the overflowing of creeks and small rivers in the state yesterday had cost at least three lives, made thousands homeless and caused more than 10,000 men to be idle.

Following a continuous rain which fell for 78 hours, hundreds of highways in the sections near Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre and Shamokin were turned into raging canals, creeks overflowed their banks and the flood waters poured into the towns, flooding cellars and tying up traffic.

Two railroad employes whose names were not learned were killed near Hallstead when an engine went into a washout and another unidentified man was drowned near Sayre when a bridge collapsed under the weight of his car.

Coal mines, already suffering from a recent slump, were flooded and miners faced a suspension of work.

Relief organizations have been organized to care for the great number of people made homeless by the flood.

With five of the Brainerd gridders on the injured list and doubtful starters in tomorrow's clash with Aitkin at Aitkin, the chances are about even that the local high school boys will come back to this city Saturday night with another win to their credit.

It is almost a certainty that LaCourse, left tackle, and Buscher, quarterback, will not be in the starting line-up on account of injuries. LaCourse has a sprained wrist while Buscher has had a hard job limbering up a sore leg he got in the clash with Crosby here last Saturday.

Donald Geist will be out of the game for the remainder of the season on account of sore leg muscles. Last night W. Hautala and Swanson, half-backs, came out of the scrimmage in bad shape and it is not known whether they will be O. K. to start tomorrow.

Coach Kasch today was unable to announce his starting line-up on account of these injuries. Wise will call signals in the opening of tomorrow's game.

Science has rightly given emulsified cod-liver oil, as in Scott's Emulsion, a place of premier importance as a help to perfect baby's nutrition and to furnish its growing organism with a needed abundance of rickets-preventing and growth-promoting vitamins.

Young children who are not absorbing a full abundance of essential vitamins, should receive, as an added food-ration, regular doses of easily-assimilated, pleasantly-flavored, emulsified cod-liver oil in the form of

Every Baby Needs Vitamins

Baby often requires special vitamin-nourishment to assure development of sound bones and avoidance of rickets.

Science has rightly given emulsified cod-liver oil, as in Scott's Emulsion, a place of premier importance as a help to perfect baby's nutrition and to furnish its growing organism with a needed abundance of rickets-preventing and growth-promoting vitamins.

Young children who are not absorbing a full abundance of essential vitamins, should receive, as an added food-ration, regular doses of easily-assimilated, pleasantly-flavored, emulsified cod-liver oil in the form of

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Sheila Kildare and her father emigrate to America from Killanmaul, Ireland. They follow Emmett Murtough, to whom Sheila is betrothed. Neither Kildare or Murtough will hold steady jobs and Sheila goes to work as a waitress. She makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer, whose kindness interests her. Murtough joins a bootlegging gang and is involved with a cabaret girl. The gang plans to unload $150,000 worth of contraband.

At Clarice's invitation Murtough joined a party of two men and two women in evening dress and as the drinks began to be served more and more rapidly, Murtough's tongue was loosened. One of the women was particularly anxious to know "the inside" of "bootlegging" and professed the utmost admiration for the men who dared law and death to engage in it.

"It's really as romantic as in the days of the real pirates," she said. "Just think what men must go through to unload ships at sea and all that."

"Oh, there's lots of excitement if that's what ye' mean," Murtough said, "but there's not so much danger on the water as there is when the stuff has to be driven over land. At sea there's a chance of being caught by a revenue cutter, an' they'd blow ye' to pieces if ye' didn't come to, but on land ye' run up against not only the government men, but hi-jackers an' grafters an' the local police an' state police too. Everybody's against ye' on land. Why, only tonight—"

"Emmett!" Clarice squeezed his hand in warning but the Murtough was flattered by the attention of the woman who was listening so intently and the mood for boasting was on him. He told the story of the hold-up by the "agents" and the graft that was paid to them. He put himself in the shoes of Devlin and he let it be known with many reiterations, just how clever he had been in realizing that the tactful method of paying out a little money was better than to stand a chance of a real arrest and the confiscation of the automobiles and cargo if it proved that the men were honest enforcement men.

"And who do you work for," queried one of the men to whom the recital seemed endless and boring.

"Mannie—", Clarice stopped him at the word.

"Emmett, they don't care who you work for, they're just interested in the fun you have."

"That's true, but I wondered if it was for one of the big gangs about which we read in the papers. That was all," explained the guest. It was plain that this was the truth for the woman who had shown such a deep interest added that they were from the West and just "slumming" through the night clubs. The host of the table called for a check and with polite farewells to Murtough and Clarice they left. Shortly afterward the manager told the girl that she could go home.

"Where shall we go," Murtough asked when they were on the sidewalk. "I'd like a couple of more."

"Let's go down to Corrigan's and I'll eat a sandwich. I'm hungry. They don't let us girls eat there, no matter if we're invited."

Murtough was at the danger line. He had enjoyed an audience and now he wanted to talk, he wanted to be thought the big man, the man who was in big business and who was to make thousands. Clarice played up to him as she always did and by the time Murtough had escorted her to her home, Clarice had learned definitely, not only that Emmett worked for Mannie Clocker, but the names of the men who were associated with him, and last but not least the news of the arrival of the ship with its $150,000 cargo. Murtough had boasted gloriously of the part he would play after the landing and Clarice learned all the details which had been revealed at Clocker's landing station. This was more news than the mysterious "Gus" could possibly want, she thought. When would "Gus" call at the Castle for the information and how soon would he pay her the $5,000 he had promised?

CHAPTER X

Idle Boasts Are Boomerangs

Emmett Murtough was a sick man when he awakened that evening. Not only was he ill physically, but he recalled with no little misgivings that he had talked a great deal the night before, and he could not remember how much of importance he had divulged. He feared that he may have revealed details of Clocker's plans which, if learned, would be punished only as the head of the bootleg ring knew how to punish. Dismissal and a sound thrashing by a couple of thugs was the usual portion with a warning to stay out of the vicinity of Clocker's district. Emmett decided to quiet his conscience by calling for Sheila at the restaurant.

Sheila was delighted to see him. The change in Emmett had pleased her mightily and she was anxious in turn to do all she could to help him in his ambitions, ambitions which he had confided while he was lying at her home injured. Sheila gaily invited him to take her for a walk through Central Park after her work was finished at Nick's.

She chattered happily, told him in all detail about hearing the announcement of the fights at the Garden round by round, speculated upon the marvels of the radio, and Murtough forgot his fears and recounted his night drives along lonely roads. With an Irishman's true blarney he painted the sky with bright stars and described the eerie night scenery as he sped by in his "express" truck.

The West End Club dance was to be held on the next Saturday night and Murtough promised her a glorious time and told her of the elaborate plans he had heard were being made for the affair. Everybody in the district would attend and even the Mayor and the Governor might drop in for a little while. It was to be broadcast also as one of the important political functions of the fall.

"Ah, Emmett, an' there's a change for the good come over ye here recent," said Sheila softly as they turned their steps back toward the entrance of the Park at the Circle. "Ye are softer an' gentler than ye' used to be when I first come over here."

"'Tis due to you entirely," responded Murtough, carried away by the spell of her presence. "'Tis due to you and nothing else."

"I'm glad, for sometimes I felt that maybe I was a bit strong-headed to be quarreling with you an' father all the time about yer business. After all, Emmett, ye are a man an' I guess perhaps ye know yer own business best at times."

"I'm doing well now, Sheila, but I want to do better yet."

"An' do ye think sometimes of the question ye asked me back there in Killanmaul just before ye came away?"

"Indeed an' indeed I do. 'Tis only that I want ye should have what ye should be having before we go to the priest," he said.

"I believe ye, Emmett, an' as I told ye, if when ye have made good as ye wish, ye put the question to me, I'll give ye my answer."

"But why can't ye promise now, Sheila?" he pleaded.

"Would ye want me to; wouldn't ye rather be free an' with no strings tied to ye' until ye have done what ye wished?"

"Give me yer promise now, Sheila. It will help me to get on for I'll be thinking all the time of ye' an' that ye are waiting an' hoping for me to make good."

"Then I do, Emmett," she said simply, and turned to his arms there in the shadows of the trees. They were silent until they reached Sheila's home, Sheila content in having done what she believed was not only her duty to the boy who had come from Killanmaul, but what her love dictated.

Emmett was not so sure as his mind reverted to his other associates. Sheila would undoubtedly learn the truth about his "business" some day; if they were married by that time there was little that she could do about it, but if they were not, Emmett knew full well the scorn with which she would treat a law-breaker. Could he take the chance? He had, as a matter of fact, so that was all there was to it. But there was Clarice, and he surmised that she might be a spiteful creature if she was aroused and might make him trouble if there was cause. These complications, however, must be faced as they came, he decided.

Clarice hugged the information Murtough had poured out to her breast like a "fence" miserly guarding precious stones until he could find a buyer.

RADO MILLICH, IS HANGED TODAY

Marion, Ill., Oct. 21.—(U.P.)—Rado Millich, first of the Birger gangsters of southern Illinois to reach the gallows, was hanged here today at 10:05 A. M. for the murder of Ward Jones, fellow gangster.

The condemned man pleading self defense to the last, issued a dictated statement before his death asserting the belief he had been made "the goat" in a desire to rid southern Illinois of gang warfare.

Execution of the 36-year-old Montenegrin occurred at Williamson county jail under supervision of Sheriff Oren Coleman. The trap was sprung by Phil Hanna, White county executioner.

All efforts of defense counsel to obtain clemency failed.

"Hula" a Whooping Hit From Magnetic Clara Bow

Clara Bow, the bouncing, dashing "madcap of the screen" has gone and done it again!

Not so long ago the little Paramount star stormed the country with Elinor Glyn's "It." This was followed by "Rough House Rosie." Now she's back again with one that's even better.

"Hula" is showing at the Lyceum Theatre.

The story itself is perfect for the lovable red-head, so much so that one can believe Armine Von Tempski had Clara in mind when she wrote the popular novel.

"The Big Parade" Coming on Next Tuesday at Lyceum at Popular Prices

"The Big Parade," the big road show picture coming to the Lyceum Theatre on Tuesday, for a four-day run, is the first war picture which has really been a faithful picturization of the great conflict. There is no flag-waving, but there is a glorification of heroism and tolerance. Perhaps the most unusual part of it is that no justification of the conflict is advanced. The story by Laurence Stallings was directed by King Vidor, starring John Gilbert. It will be shown at popular prices. Three performances a day will be given, at 2:15, 6:45 and 9:15 P. M. It is in 13 reels.

Sheila Kildare and her father emigrate to America from Killanmaul, Ireland. They follow Emmett Murtough, to whom Sheila is betrothed. Neither Kildare or Murtough will hold steady jobs and Sheila goes to work as a waitress. She makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer, whose kindness interests her. Murtough joins a bootlegging gang and is involved with a cabaret girl. The gang plans to unload $150,000 worth of contraband.

At Clarice's invitation Murtough joined a party of two men and two women in evening dress and as the drinks began to be served more and more rapidly, Murtough's tongue was loosened. One of the women was particularly anxious to know "the inside" of "bootlegging" and professed the utmost admiration for the men who dared law and death to engage in it.

"It's really as romantic as in the days of the real pirates," she said. "Just think what men must go through to unload ships at sea and all that."

"Oh, there's lots of excitement if that's what ye' mean," Murtough said, "but there's not so much danger on the water as there is when the stuff has to be driven over land. At sea there's a chance of being caught by a revenue cutter, an' they'd blow ye' to pieces if ye' didn't come to, but on land ye' run up against not only the government men, but hi-jackers an' grafters an' the local police an' state police too. Everybody's against ye' on land. Why, only tonight—"

"Emmett!" Clarice squeezed his hand in warning but the Murtough was flattered by the attention of the woman who was listening so intently and the mood for boasting was on him. He told the story of the hold-up by the "agents" and the graft that was paid to them. He put himself in the shoes of Devlin and he let it be known with many reiterations, just how clever he had been in realizing that the tactful method of paying out a little money was better than to stand a chance of a real arrest and the confiscation of the automobiles and cargo if it proved that the men were honest enforcement men.

Sheila gaily invited him to take her for a walk.

"And who do you work for," queried one of the men to whom the recital seemed endless and boring.

"Mannie—", Clarice stopped him at the word.

"Emmett, they don't care who you work for, they're just interested in the fun you have."

"That's true, but I wondered if it was for one of the big gangs about which we read in the papers. That was all," explained the guest. It was plain that this was the truth for the woman who had shown such a deep interest added that they were from the West and just "slumming" through the night clubs. The host of the table called for a check and with polite farewells to Murtough and Clarice they left. Shortly afterward the manager told the girl that she could go home.

"Where shall we go," Murtough asked when they were on the sidewalk. "I'd like a couple of more."

"Let's go down to Corrigan's and I'll eat a sandwich. I'm hungry. They don't let us girls eat there, no matter if we're invited."

Murtough was at the danger line. He had enjoyed an audience and now he wanted to talk, he wanted to be thought the big man, the man who was in big business and who was to make thousands. Clarice played up to him as she always did and by the time Murtough had escorted her to her home, Clarice had learned definitely, not only that Emmett worked for Mannie Clocker, but the names of the men who were associated with him, and last but not least the news of the arrival of the ship with its $150,000 cargo. Murtough had boasted gloriously of the part he would play after the landing and Clarice learned all the details which had been revealed at Clocker's landing station. This was more news than the mysterious "Gus" could possibly want, she thought. When would "Gus" call at the Castle for the information and how soon would he pay her the $5,000 he had promised?

CHAPTER X

Idle Boasts Are Boomerangs

Emmett Murtough was a sick man when he awakened that evening. Not only was he ill physically, but he recalled with no little misgivings that he had talked a great deal the night before, and he could not remember how much of importance he had divulged. He feared that he may have revealed details of Clocker's plans which, if learned, would be punished only as the head of the bootleg ring knew how to punish. Dismissal and a sound thrashing by a couple of thugs was the usual portion with a warning to stay out of the vicinity of Clocker's district. Emmett decided to quiet his conscience by calling for Sheila at the restaurant.

Sheila was delighted to see him. The change in Emmett had pleased her mightily and she was anxious in turn to do all she could to help him in his ambitions, ambitions which he had confided while he was lying at her home injured. Sheila gaily invited him to take her for a walk through Central Park after her work was finished at Nick's.

She chattered happily, told him in all detail about hearing the announcement of the fights at the Garden round by round, speculated upon the marvels of the radio, and Murtough forgot his fears and recounted his night drives along lonely roads. With an Irishman's true blarney he painted the sky with bright stars and described the eerie night scenery as he sped by in his "express" truck.

The West End Club dance was to be held on the next Saturday night and Murtough promised her a glorious time and told her of the elaborate plans he had heard were being made for the affair. Everybody in the district would attend and even the Mayor and the Governor might drop in for a little while. It was to be broadcast also as one of the important political functions of the fall.

"Ah, Emmett, an' there's a change for the good come over ye here recent," said Sheila softly as they turned their steps back toward the entrance of the Park at the Circle. "Ye are softer an' gentler than ye' used to be when I first come over here."

"'Tis due to you entirely," responded Murtough, carried away by the spell of her presence. "'Tis due to you and nothing else."

"I'm glad, for sometimes I felt that maybe I was a bit strong-headed to be quarreling with you an' father all the time about yer business. After all, Emmett, ye are a man an' I guess perhaps ye know yer own business best at times."

"I'm doing well now, Sheila, but I want to do better yet."

"An' do ye think sometimes of the question ye asked me back there in Killanmaul just before ye came away?"

"Indeed an' indeed I do. 'Tis only that I want ye should have what ye should be having before we go to the priest," he said.

"I believe ye, Emmett, an' as I told ye, if when ye have made good as ye wish, ye put the question to me, I'll give ye my answer."

"But why can't ye promise now, Sheila?" he pleaded.

"Would ye want me to; wouldn't ye rather be free an' with no strings tied to ye' until ye have done what ye wished?"

"Give me yer promise now, Sheila. It will help me to get on for I'll be thinking all the time of ye' an' that ye are waiting an' hoping for me to make good."

"Then I do, Emmett," she said simply, and turned to his arms there in the shadows of the trees. They were silent until they reached Sheila's home, Sheila content in having done what she believed was not only her duty to the boy who had come from Killanmaul, but what her love dictated.

Emmett was not so sure as his mind reverted to his other associates. Sheila would undoubtedly learn the truth about his "business" some day; if they were married by that time there was little that she could do about it, but if they were not, Emmett knew full well the scorn with which she would treat a law-breaker. Could he take the chance? He had, as a matter of fact, so that was all there was to it. But there was Clarice, and he surmised that she might be a spiteful creature if she was aroused and might make him trouble if there was cause. These complications, however, must be faced as they came, he decided.

Clarice hugged the information Murtough had poured out to her breast like a "fence" miserly guarding precious stones until he could find a buyer.

The condemned man pleading self defense to the last, issued a dictated statement before his death asserting the belief he had been made "the goat" in a desire to rid southern Illinois of gang warfare.

All efforts of defense counsel to obtain clemency failed.

"Hula" a Whooping Hit From Magnetic Clara Bow

Clara Bow, the bouncing, dashing "madcap of the screen" has gone and done it again!

Not so long ago the little Paramount star stormed the country with Elinor Glyn's "It." This was followed by "Rough House Rosie." Now she's back again with one that's even better.

"Hula" is showing at the Lyceum Theatre.

The story itself is perfect for the lovable red-head, so much so that one can believe Armine Von Tempski had Clara in mind when she wrote the popular novel.

"The Big Parade" Coming on Next Tuesday at Lyceum at Popular Prices

"The Big Parade," the big road show picture coming to the Lyceum Theatre on Tuesday, for a four-day run, is the first war picture which has really been a faithful picturization of the great conflict. There is no flag-waving, but there is a glorification of heroism and tolerance. Perhaps the most unusual part of it is that no justification of the conflict is advanced. The story by Laurence Stallings was directed by King Vidor, starring John Gilbert. It will be shown at popular prices. Three performances a day will be given, at 2:15, 6:45 and 9:15 P. M. It is in 13 reels.
